THE IMPORTANCE OF RECIPROCITY WITH SOUTH AMERICA

Secretary Blaine recognizes fully the value of reciprocal trade with our neighbors. We ought to control the whole trade of Mexico, Central and South America. There is nothing on earth from a wooden chair to a motor locomotive and the finest and most powerful dynamo, which cannot be made well in this country; made better than any goods can be made in Europe. Talk about trade! That avenue would open up a vast field of manufacturing activity; open up more opportunities for labor; more opportunities for capital. These Spanish-Americans have what we want. That avenue would open up a vast field of manufacturing activity; open up more opportunities for labor; more opportunities for capital. These Spanish-Americans have what we want. That avenue would open up a vast field of manufacturing activity; open up more opportunities for labor; more opportunities for capital. These Spanish-Americans have what we want.

Mr. Blaine is the foremost statesman in this country. If he had his way there would be satisfactory reciprocity with South and Central American States. The United States would command nearly all the Spanish American trade. But whether the congress can be made to agree with Mr. Blaine is a question. Surely Mr. McKinley will not agree to the terms proposed by Mr. Blaine in his effort to secure the trade with the South Americans. It is said that President Harrison stands by Mr. Blaine on the question of removing all important obstacles which now stand in the way of opening a system of fair trade between this country and Central and South America.

One of the senate amendments to the McKinley bill, proposed by Senator Hale, and prepared, it is said, at the request of the president and Mr. Blaine, is as follows:

And the President of the United States is hereby authorized, without further legislation, to declare the ports of the United States free and open to all the products of any nation of the American hemisphere upon which no export duties are imposed, whenever and so long as such nation shall admit to its ports, free of all national, provincial (State), municipal and other taxes, flour, corn-meal, and other bread stuffs, preserved meats, fish, vegetables, rice, and fruits, cotton-seed oil, rice, and other provisions, including all articles of food, lumber, furniture, and all other articles of wood, structural implements and machinery, mining and mechanical machinery, structural steel and iron, steel rails, locomotives, railway cars and supplies, streetcars, refined petroleum, or such other products of the United States as may be agreed upon.

This amendment to the McKinley bill, is an all-important one in dealing with the Central and South American States. It will prove an act of reciprocity which will vastly benefit the agricultural interest of the country. It will open that mighty continent south of the United States, to the farm products of the United States. The Spanish American people need our corn, wheat, oats, and other products of this country, and we need their sugar, hides and fruits and so on, and why not make this exchange on the best terms possible for the American people? This is what the president wants to do. It is what Mr. Blaine is seeking to accomplish, and why not?

DON'T WORRY.

Some democratic papers seem to be so much too anxious to get on the republican position regarding the Bennett law. They fear that the party is going to weaken on that subject, that it won't stand up to the rack on every detail of the law, and that it won't go far enough in stirring up religious prejudice.

Our democratic friends have always manifested a good deal of concern toward the republican party and its principles. It very frequently makes suggestions concerning candidates. Two years ago it was feared the republicans would nominate Mr. Blaine—the alleged fear being founded on the democratic idea that he was a weak man, and of course, everybody knows that the democrats never want the republicans to nominate a weak man. The democrats are so generous and broad in their patriotism and strong in their good will, that they want the republicans to nominate strong men so they can win. They don't want the republicans to nominate a Governor Hoard. They say he is weak, and that it would be bad for the party to nominate him. With this touching kindness do the democrats give the republicans advice as to principles and candidates.

But our friends of the democratic party need not give so much thought regarding the republicans and the Bennett law. The time will not come this year when the party will recede one inch from the two chief features of the educational law. It will stand up squarely for compulsory education and for the teaching of English. It will likewise stand up for Governor Hoard both in the convention and in the campaign, and will not be beaten on these issues. The republicans never win when a principle is at stake and never run when there is fighting.

More than that, it never takes the advice of its enemies. A party which will heed the counsel of those it opposes will get severely whipped. The republicans have never gone over to the democracy for wisdom. They could not find it there if they did. They have always, or nearly always, took counsel of the conscience of the party, and when it has done that it has succeeded.

AN OPPORTUNE TIME.

That considerable interest is being taken in congressional matters goes without saying. Citizens of the lake shore are questioning themselves if they are not in sight of the long sought for but never reached honor of a republican in congress for their side of the district. As this may be there is an agitation of the waters going on, and say dwellers in this section of the district will keep their weather eye open, that is if they have any care at all how things are going.—Review Journal.

What's the matter with Senator Cooper? If the lake shore counties desire representation they will never find so favorable an opportunity as the present. Rock is not desiring for recognition and Walworth appears to be out of the race. Jefferson will doubtless be willing to lead the delegation if the lake shore counties so elect. The district is strongly republican and a nomination is usually equivalent to an election. The claims of Racine county are recognized throughout the district and the situation will doubtless be appreciated and the opportunity improved.

The supreme court of Tennessee has just rendered a decision which is likely to attract considerable notice, by reason of its involving the question of religious liberty. The case is that of the State vs. R. M. King, a farmer of Obion county, charged with violating the Sabbath law of the state by plowing on Sunday. The law under which Mr. King was prosecuted is a relic of early Partisan legislation, appropriate for a time when church and state were united, but of a later date abandoned to a state of ignorance and disuse, as, out of harmony with the principles of civil and religious liberty which characterize our government. Mr. King is a member of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, a sect which observe the seventh day of the week (Saturday) as the Sabbath, and have few members in that portion of the south. They carefully and scrupulously observe each seventh day as holy time, and believe that they have an inalienable right to labor on the other six, under the provisions of the fourth commandment which says "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work." They are everywhere known as peaceable and law-abiding citizens. On Sunday, the 23d of June, 1889, Mr. King was observed plowing corn in his field by some members of a company which had banded together for the avowed purpose of prosecuting every violation of the state Sunday law. He was brought before the magistrate and fined three dollars and costs. Not satisfied with this, his accusers succeeded in having him indicted, for the same act, before the circuit court of Obion County, on the rather singular ground that plowing on Sunday constituted a nuisance. The trial was held in April last, with the result that Mr. King was again convicted and fined seventy-five dollars and costs, notwithstanding the witnesses testified that the only disturbance caused by the act was a disturbance of their religious ideas. Mr. King's defense was conducted by the National Religious Liberty Association, an organization of recent origin, composed wholly of Christians, and founded on the principle of the total separation of Church and State. The case will probably be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Yellow Fever in Georgia. LOUISVILLE, KY., June 24.—The first case of yellow fever this year was reported from Brunswick, Ga., yesterday. Richard Glasgow, aged 38, was the victim.

A Matter of Interest to Travelers. TOURISTS, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthy influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It is not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

Always Avoid Harsh Purgative Pills. They first make you sick and then make you feel worse. Hostetter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill.

Just where the accident occurred a narrow bridge is built which crosses a narrow ravine. All the cars passed over this bridge safely excepting the sleepers and the dining-car. Fortunately there were few passengers in the train. The two sleepers left the track and plunged down a thirty foot embankment, both being badly wrecked. The dining car hung over the embankment. In the sleeper were E. J. McDonnell and wife of Hyde Park, Chicago. Mr. McDonnell was crushed between the seats and almost instantly killed, the body being badly mangled. # PENSION BILL PASSED.

THE SENATE AGREES TO THE CONFERENCE REPORT.

The bill now goes to the President for his signature. The Agricultural College Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—In the Senate Mr. Lusk offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on privileges and elections, to inquire as to the date when, under the laws and precedents, the salaries of the Senators from Montana and Washington and South Dakota began.

Consideration of the agricultural college bill was then resumed, and Mr. Morrill offered a substitute for the various amendments pending on Saturday to the division of the fund between colored and white schools of a State.

The bill was then passed. The bill appropriates annually out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, arising from the sales of public lands, to each State and Territory for the more complete endowment and maintenance of colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts now established, or which may be hereafter established, in accordance with an act of Congress approved July 2, 1892, the sum of $15,000 for the year ending June 30, 1899, and an annual increase of the amount of such appropriation thereafter for ten years by the annual sum of one per cent over the preceding year, the annual amount to be paid thereafter to each State and Territory to be $25,000.

The conference report on the dependent pension bill has been agreed to by the Senate. The bill now goes to the President. Mr. Davis, chairman of the pension committee, estimates the expenditures under the bill at $100,000,000.

When the conference report on the dependent pension bill was taken up, Mr. Berry made a speech against it. The practical effect of it would be, he said, to put 50 per cent of the Union soldiers on the pension roll.

Mr. Gorman said that if the bill became a law there would be a deficit of $100,000,000 in 1892, and that, even if it did not become a law, there would be a deficit of $400,000,000.

Mr. Teller declared that no disbursements of the government met with more universal favor and approval than the paying of pensions.

Mr. Hawley expressed the hope that the soldiers would not get the idea from his speech that the Senate was favorable to the payment of arrears of pensions, or to the equalization of bounties, or to the payment of the difference between paper money and gold. He thought that although the committee was said about what the nation owed to its soldiers.

Finally the discussion closed and the vote was taken. The conference report was agreed to—yeas, 34; nays, 18.

River and Harbor Bill in Danger.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The managers of the river and harbor bill are becoming uneasy about its fate when it reaches the White House. The House committee thought they had run a good deal of risk in allowing the aggregate to run up to about $1,000,000 in order to provide for all improvements of waterways during the next fiscal year, and now that the Senate has piled on $1,000,000 more it is doubted whether the President will approve a bill carrying $25,000,000 for one year's expenditures on rivers and harbors.

Josie Holmes' "Wealthy" Husband.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The report that Josie Holmes had married a wealthy citizen of Washington is incorrect. Last December she married a draughtsman in the navy yard. He isn't a "wealthy Washingtonian," but a Marylander, and as poor as a church mouse.

The police, it is understood, will make no more seizures of such packages unless those obtaining the warrants give bonds.

To Fight the Onyx Trust.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The newly formed onyx trust seems to have stirred up a commotion in the onyx manufacturing trade here. It has announced an important advance in the price of undressed onyx, and manufacturers have called a meeting for this week to consider the situation and possibly to organize and fight the trust. Judge Davis says he is not at all alarmed.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

WHILE intoxicated Sunday night George Mason of Kansas City, Mo., was struck by the Chicago express on the Washburn road near Oakland Park, Ill. He died yesterday morning.

The railroad commissioners having condemned that portion of the St. Louis, Iron & Springfield railroad between St. Louis and El Paso, Ill., it was abandoned by the company a week ago. To avoid a threatened writ of injunction, by citizens opposing removal, the company put 200 men at work yesterday and tore up five miles of track.

A lady from a falling lamp caught on the dress of Mary Day, a young girl visiting at Odanah, Wis., yesterday and she was burned to death.

JOHN WAGNER of Aurora, Ill., quarreled with his wife, and an old resident of Peoria, stole out of her room in her daughter's residence and committed suicide by jumping into a cistern.

ED DUCANNE, a Washburn, Wis., blacksmith, was killed a week ago by a falling girl. He disappeared and last night his body was fished out of the Sioux river, within a stone's throw of the place where the girl refused him.

SEARCHING FOR A MESSIAH.

Indians Going to the Black Hills to Look for the Coming Savior.

KANSAS CITY, June 24.—Two Comanche chiefs from the reservation near Fort Reno, I. T., arrived here this morning in a double-decked Pullman car. The Indians belong to the gang that went with the Kiowa chief, Santana, on the last raid through Kansas several years ago. They were captured and taken to Fort Leavenworth, where they were placed on the reservation near the fort. They will go to the Sioux tribe, at the Pine Ridge Agency, and join delegates from all the other tribes of that nation and from there go to the Black Hills, there to seek out the Indian Messiah or great medicine chief, who is apparently a mythical personage who is expected to restore the Indian to his former greatness and eliminate the white race entirely.

BELOIT, Wis., June 24.—Alfred B. Allen, aged 75 years, a former business man, was instantly killed last evening by a passenger-train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. He was shockingly mangled.

"Traveling Stones."

The curious "traveling stones" of Australia are paralleled in Nevada. They are described as being perfectly round, about as large as a walnut, and of an ivory nature. When distributed about on the floor, table, or any other level surface within two or three feet of each other they immediately begin traveling toward each other until they meet at a common center and there lie huddled up in a bunch, like eggs in a nest. A single stone removed to a distance of four feet, upon being released, returns to the heap, but if taken away five feet remains motionless. It is needless to say that they are largely composed of magnetic iron ore.

A Pleasing Invention.

The newest kind of cane, and a variety with which the police are not yet familiar, is an ash stick with little steel spikes sunk in the wood all over its upper half, which spring out when a button in the handle is pressed. When the spikes are all on duty the cane, which is harmless enough under other circumstances, becomes a terrible weapon.

Encouraging Outlook.

Prosperous Times for the Bower City—Opportunities for the People.

There is every reason to rejoice over the encouraging outlook for the city, and its steady growth and development, is no longer a matter of question. The enterprise exhibited by both railway companies means much for the city and will inspire new life in every department of business. The Milwaukee and St. Paul Company places the mills and factories of the upper water power in a position to meet competition successfully while the two miles of new track and other improvements now in process of construction by the Chicago and Northwestern Company, opens up a vast amount of unoccupied territory that can be profitably used for manufacturing purposes.

No one believes for a moment, that this company is spending so much money for the simple accommodation of one or two manufacturing industries. The location of the division in connection with these improvements indicates that the company is prepared to meet the city half way at least.

If the Janesville Land Company and the Spring Rock Improvement Company receive the encouragement that they should, there is no reason why the city should not develop rapidly. The Gazette believes that the dawn of an era of prosperity is plainly visible, and that Janesville will yet rank with the most prosperous cities of the Rock river valley.
